

Abstract

Isolated polynucleotides which have been derived from a variety of human tissue sources, and which encode novel secreted proteins, are provided. Also provided are methods for producing proteins using these polynucleotides, and the proteins so produced.